

SOLT Serbian Module 4 Lesson 1

Daily Routine

During this lesson, the students will learn about daily routines. Under this Terminal Learning Objective, the students will learn four tasks: talk about your daily routine, identify military facilities, talk about living in the barracks and residential areas on a military installation, locate base facilities. At the end of the lesson, the students will be able to:

1. Talk about your daily routine. This task will include:
 - Describe your daily routine at different hours of the day
 - Describe your weekend

2. Identify military facilities. This task will include:
 - Talk about unit facilities
 - Name different facilities at the military installation
 - Talk about food service, laundry, clothing sales, central issue facility, post exchange, medical, and transportation facilities
 - Inquire information about shooting range and instruction in the TR

3. Talk about living in the barracks and residential areas on a military installation. This task will include:

There are certain similarities and differences in the military life of the US soldiers and the soldiers of the TR. These differences and similarities will be introduced in this lesson. Most Yugoslav soldiers, for example, are not allowed to leave their unit even after the duty day is over. After dinner, before they go to bed, normally at 10 P.M., they are usually free to take time for themselves, but they must stay within the boundaries of the company or squad. They need permission to leave their unit almost always during the weekend, as a reward for good behavior or achievement or when their family or friends come to visit them.

Tip of the day

Learn this old saying today: Ко рано рани две среће граби – The early bird gets the worm.

Рутина

The Serbian word рутина is a borrowed word. The word routine originates in French and is found in many European languages, including English. The French word routine is derived from French route, which has the same meaning as in English. (Also, you may know the French word rue - street). The idea of a 'well known route' or a 'well established way of doing things' has been retained in all the languages where this word is used. However, often times borrowed words acquire some specific shade of meaning. While in English routine is defined as "habitual or mechanical performance of an established procedure", in Serbian рутина is "stagnation in business and in the way of life" and also something "very monotonous and boring" which may even cause depression, longing, yearning, or anguish.
